PROF. MADELEINE ALBRIGHT VISITS UW

The meeting with the first woman in history who was in the office of the United States Secretary of State will be held on 8th March in the Old Library building. Prof. Madeleine Albright's visit to the UW is related to the edition of her book entitled "Fascism: A Warning". The Polish version of the publication was released last year. To apply for a press accreditation, please fill in a form until 7th March.

Prof. Madeleine Albright is an American politician who has been a head of the United States Department of State in the period 1997-2001. She was nominated for this office by president Bill Clinton. Earlier she worked at the White House where her duties were connected with the foreign policy. She was a member of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars at the Smithsonian Institution and was appointed the American Ambassador to the United Nations in 1993.

Prof. Madeleine Albright was a part of the academic staff at Georgetown University. She was a specialist in Eastern European studies and directed the university's programme on women in global politics. That diplomat holds honorary degrees awarded by many institutions (e.g. the University of Washington).

In October 2018, the Polish version of her book "Fascism: A Warning" was published.

Prof. Madeleine Albright was a guest at the University of Warsaw when she was taking part in "Tischner Debate" in 2008. She will visit the university again on 8th March. The meeting will take place at 5 p.m. in the Old Library building and will be led in English by Bartosz T. Wielński ("Gazeta Wyborcza").

To apply for a press accreditation please fill in a form until 7th March.

Prof. Madeleine Albright's visit to Poland is organised by the Polish-American Freedom Foundation. If you are interested in an individual interview with Prof. M. Albright, please contact with Maciej Makulski from PAFF (m.makulski@pafw.pl).
